Sloatsburg, Pothat's Land

Wily Indians Sold Settlers Land Twice

By MARY KATHERINE HEINS

Like any village with a background of years, Sloatsburg has a colorful history hidden in its past for anyone who has the time and tenacity to look for it.

Mary Catherine Heins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heins of Liberty Rock Road, Sloatsburg, chose this subject as her theme during her senior year at Suffern High School in 1951.

Members of her family have been residents of the town since the early 19th century. Miss Heins has always been interested in the history of this town and we believe her story will be of interest to all. It will be recorded in installments.

Foreword

I have given the title "Pothat's Land" to this dissertation because of its connection to the material that is to be found here. The Indian Pothat was the first Indian chief of the Algonquin tribes to live in this valley, and was known throughout the entire land of the Indians as a great and courageous warrior. The year that he came here is unknown to us but he will be long remembered as the great Indian of this area. This history of Sloatsburg tells a small part of the lore of Pothat's valley in an effort to show that his land, as he knew it, and as it later became, bestows upon its people a heritage that is comparable, if

In the year of our Lord 1724, the Pothat Indians were the natural, if not the legal owners of the main part of the Spencer Patent. In April of this year, John Van Blaricum traveled through this territory, found it to his liking and after some negotiations, bought it from

Tuxedo Water Rates Protested In Group Memo To Governor

Paper To Albany Details Case Of Village Association

That water rates and sewer charges recently fixed by the incorporated village of Tuxedo Park, both inside and outside the incorporated area, are grossly excessive and "can and ought to be reduced by 50 percent" is the claim of the Tuxedo Village Association set forth in a detailed memorandum addressed to Governor Averell Harriman.

Charles W. Cremona is president of the Tuxedo Village Association; John Modder, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Mottola Jr., treasurer, and Alfred B. Stevens, secretary.

The complaining association, by its own statement in the memorandum, is composed of residents nearly all of whom have homes in the unincorporated "hamlet" outside of Tuxedo Park. The differential between inside and outside users of water is stated in tables drawn up by the association. In the park, the charge per 1,000 gallons up to 9,000 gallons is 65 cents; outside, 75 cents. Users of over 100,000 gallons inside pay 25 cents per 1,000 and outside, 29 cents.

There is a minimum charge per quarter based on the size of the pipe supplying the meter ranging from $5.85 for 1/2-inch pipe supplying up to 9,000 gallons to $66.55 for 4-inch pipe supplying up to 200,000 gallons. The memorandum says that customers in the hamlet pay 15 percent more than these rates.

Protest Sewer Charges

Sewer charges in the hamlet are fixed at $10 per quarter for a one-family house to $28 per quarter for a 4-family house. The association claims that these charges were intended to yield $6,000 per year from the hamlet alone, whereas "if every customer is charged the published rate, the actual yield from the hamlet will be about $10,000."

Prior to and during part of 1954 (the memorandum states) the water supply and sewer systems were operated by the Tuxedo Water Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Tuxedo Park Association, Inc., a stock corporation. Part of the water facilities were sold in 1954 to the Village of Tuxedo Park for $165,000.

Special Bargains To Be Offered Next Week At 'Opportunity Days'

Suffern's semi-annual "Opportunity Days" sales under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce will be held next week on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 21, 22 and 23.

Participating merchants will fly the event's characteristic banners in their store windows to welcome shoppers to the special values offered in the village's own bargain fair.

Ford Move Is Underway; Plant To Open Tuesday

THEY PLANNED THE MOVE: flanked by two aides, Louis W. Holloway, Edgewater assembly plant traffic manager and general coordinator for Ford's Edgewater-to-Mahwah transfer, scans huge layout showing locations inside new Mahwah plant. On his left is Charles Klörpfer, manager of manufacturing engineering, and on his right is Ben Young, assistant transfer coordinator. Plans for the move were first mapped more than six months ago.

First Car To Leave Mahwah Assembly Line 9 A.M. Tuesday

The Ford Motor Company's transfer of operations from its Edgewater plant to Mahwah, the largest industrial moving operation ever attempted in the East, was proceeding right on schedule at noon today, with two-thirds of the departments at the Edgewater plant already closed down and equipment packed ready for tomorrow's move by truck and railroad flat car.

The carefully planned 26-mile transfer of machinery and equipment will be completed over the weekend, and full production at the new 177-acre assembly plant on Route 17 is scheduled to begin officially on Tuesday with a loss of only 16 hours production time.

The last car will come off the assembly line of the 25-year old Edgewater plant in southeast Bergen County about 10 a.m. Friday and shortly thereafter a convoy of 25 moving vans will start transferring supplies and equipment.

Shortly after 9 a.m. Tuesday the first official car will roll off the assembly line at the new 1.9 million square foot plant, with all of the company's 2,900 employees but 10 who are scheduled to retire this summer on hand at the Mahwah plant.

Capacity Of 1,080 Cars

While designed for two-shift operations with a productive capacity of 1,080 cars and trucks in 16 production hours, Mahwah will start with one shift, with trucks and automobiles coming off separate assembly lines.

Master-minding the physical move is a special 36-man task force headed by Louis W. Holloway of Ridgefield Park, N. J., who for the last 10 years has been traffic manager at the Edgewater plant.

With one team working at Mahwah and the other at Edgewater, they have spent 20 weeks coordinating timetables and moving instructions from initial planning which started well over a year ago.

To complete the transfer of assembly facilities, some 130 trucks and between 250 at 1,300 rail-car loads of tools, production materials and office equipment will have to be cleaned, labeled, loaded, hauled and put into their designated place in the new plant. To eliminate unnecessary movement of parts and other stock, Ford's Dearborn manufacturing headquarters already has made some shipments to Mahwah, leaving a minimum supply for transfer from Edgewater.

Because some of the heavy equipment will not go through railroad tunnels, some of the train convoys will be routed to Weehawken and Croxton (North Bergen) and then up the Erie line to Mahwah.

To Use Routes 4 and 17

The moving vans will use Routes 4 and 17, and plans call for the vans to move out as soon as they are loaded.

Copies of the 1955 Guide to Rockland County were presented to Mayor John C. Petrone and members of the Suffern Village Board of Trustees by one of the RAMAPO VALLEY INDEPENDENT staff at the meeting of the board Monday night.

The mayor and trustees expressed their interest in the first comprehensive handbook of the county to be published in many years.

Copies of the 1955 Guide to Rockland County can be purchased at newsstands and bookshops throughout the county.

As We See It

Editorially

End Of An Era In Ramapo Valley

This coming week will be a momentous one for the Ramapo Valley, for it will mark the completion of one of the three great projects which are destined to alter the pattern of life in this area for many long years to come.

We are referring, of course, to the opening of the tremendous new Ford assembly plant next door in Mahwah on Tuesday morning, following an unprecedented weekend move of Ford operations from the now obsolete plant at Edgewater just below the George Washington bridge.

The coming of this industrial giant to our quiet fringe of the metropolitan area, in conjunction with the scheduled opening of the Thruway bridge over the Hudson this fall and the completion of the Palisades Parkway next year, marks the end of an era for Rockland County, and for Mahwah Township as well.

Gone, or at least fast disappearing, is the pleasant semi-rural atmosphere which for so many years has distinguished Rockland County and Northern Bergen communities to the south and east.

To the many who love the peace and quiet of this beautiful countryside, and who would like to preserve it just as it is, the change is hard to accept gracefully.

As long as such change is inevitable, however, we think the Ramapo Valley is fortunate to have as its new industrial neighbor a firm as outstanding in its field as Ford is in the automotive world.

Ford has brought a new look not only to the assembly line, but to the important relationship between industry and the community in which industry lives and works.

We are confident that Ford will prove to be a good citizen and a good neighbor to all the communities in this Ramapo Valley area which it picked as its new home, and that the company will find a friendly welcome here when it begins regular production next week.

Advance Planning For Ford Transfer Took Over A Year

More than a year of planning is behind the huge industrial moving job that will be tackled by employees of Ford Division's Edgewater assembly plant this weekend.

When it is completed truck and 300 rail car loads of tools, production materials and office equipment will have been cleaned, labeled, loaded, hauled, and put in place at the new 1,900,000 square foot Mahwah assembly plant.

Detailed advance planning will make it possible for an employee on the final assembly line to lay down a tool shortly after 3 p.m. Friday, at Edgewater and pick up that same tool in a new plant 25 miles away on Tuesday when he starts work.

The housewife who has packed and unpacked the household goods needed for the average family can appreciate the scope of a weekend moving job involving equipment and supplies needed by nearly 2,900 people who will work in a plant as big as a 49-acre farm.

Coordination of the move, begun last year, extends all the way from Edgewater, back to production control, organizations in Ford's home offices at Dearborn, Mich.

Changeover dates have been fixed all along the line on which Ford's engine, frame, stamping and other manufacturing plants began diverting car loads of parts from Edgewater to Mahwah so that the Edgewater plant would be left with minimum stocks of parts on moving day.

At Edgewater, A. M. Harris, plant manager, split his management team so it could take on the job of starting the new plant while it closed out the old one.

A cadre of managers was assigned in May to Mahwah, along with a task force of employees who conducted tests of equipment. Then the group proceeded in June to load the new conveyors and stock storage areas with production materials as they arrived.

Meanwhile, managers who remained behind at Edgewater continued to direct the average daily output of 700 cars and trucks. A special transfer committee nailed down final details of the big moving job.

Louis W. Holloway of Ridgefield Park, the plant's traffic manager, was assigned full-time as transfer committee chairman. Other members represented production, engineering, industrial relations, and financial organizations concerned with the move.

On March 17, 1955, the committee issued the first of a series of instructions which outlined the moving timetable, and divided the huge task among all departments of the plant.

The major part of the move is being handled by the plant's own

50 Years Growth Marked By Ford At Mahwah, N.J. Plant

The Ford Motor Company marks fifty years of industrial growth in the New York-New Jersey area this year by opening its largest and newest automobile and truck assembly plant in this Township.

The new plant takes its place in the Ford chain of installations to form a solid link in New Jersey's industrial strength.

Ford installations in the New Jersey-New York area—Mercury Division assembly plant in Edison Township (Middlesex County), the Jersey City Export Operations, the New York Area Parts Depot at Teterboro, and the Mahwah Edgewater operation—provide employment to almost 6,000 people and solidify Ford's position in the area.

It was August 20, 1905 when the late Henry Ford, with an eye to the New York Metropolitan area as a potential automobile market and future marketing center, established his first sales and service branch in New York City at 1223 Broadway.

Soon after Mr. Ford set up shop in New York, some of the company's earliest models were rolling on the cobbled streets of New York. The Model "N's", "R's", "T's" and "S's", all forerunners of the most famous of them all—the cantankerous and explosive Model "T"—were sold and serviced at the company's first branch. These cars, sporting gleaming brass oil lamps and shiny leather upholstery, were the ones that evoked jeers of "Get a horse" or "Get out and get up."

It was through these clattering and wheezing four-cylinder cars that Ford introduced itself to the New York-New Jersey area in 1903-1908, and the New York-

New Jersey area was introduced to Ford.

By 1910 the Model "T" had taken hold. Ford production had reached 100 cars a day, and the New York market had increased in importance. The Ford Times noted on April 15 of that year that Ford broke automobile sales records in the State of New York for the week ending April 9 by new registrations of 104 cars. The next most popular car was Buick, with 81 registrations, and the list included 112 different makes of cars.

In 1912 branch automobile assembly operations were started in a three-story manufacturing plant at Jackson Avenue and Honeywell Street in Long Island City, N. Y. The plant produced 12 cars a day. It was expanded to eight floors in 1914 and began turning out 60 cars a day. Some 500 men were employed. Two years later an eight-story addition permitted assembly of 350 cars per day.

Meanwhile, the company's New York office was moved to larger quarters at 1710 Broadway and sales outlets were established in Newark, Brooklyn, the Bronx and Yonkers. Ford's first sales agency in New York City had been the John Wanamaker sales operations in the city, but outside New York several dealerships were established.

Ford automobile production in the New York-New Jersey area headed into high gear in 1918 on completion of a five-building plant in Kearny, N. J. The plant was actually planned for construction of Eagle boats in World War I but helped the late Henry Ford fulfill his dream of putting America on wheels in the 1918-29 period. It employed some 8,000 the sewer system for $32,000. Funds for the purchase were raised by a bond issue of about $203,000 maturing over a period of 25 years.

Comparison Of Rates
The memorandum points out that the old water company lost money in 10 out of 11 years prior to 1951 at the rate of 11 cents per 1,000 gallons, but, when the rate was raised to 20 cents, reported a profit of $9,131 on a gross of $36,178.71. Nevertheless, the memorandum continues, the new base rate is 65 cents per 1,000, more than 300 percent higher, to users inside the park and 75 cents, nearly 400 percent higher, to customers in the hamlet.

A chart in the memorandum compares the base rates per 1,000 gallons of 65 cents in the incorporated village of Tuxedo Park and 75 cents in the hamlet with those in nearby villages: Suffern, 43 cents; Sloatsburg, 55 cents; Hohokus, N. J. and Nyack, 40 cents.

The Tuxedo Village Association will distribute printed copies of the memorandum to residents.

Ford Planning

employees, although some contractors will be called in to un-couple complicated electrical equipment and hook it up at Mahwah, or to snake out the heaviest machinery and truck it to the new plant.

Thus, though cars and trucks will not be built for two days, the plant's employees face no layoffs. In fact, most of them will receive overtime pay for the weekend.

A Ford assembly plant actually operates as one big integrated machine. Each department feeds completed sub-assemblies to the next unit in the system, until all components come together at the right time on the final assembly line.

This means that at Edgewater men at one time and turned out some 900 cars and trucks a day at peak production.

In 1928 the Model "T" gave way to the more modern Model "A", after 15,000,000 of the "Lizzies" had been produced. The Kearny plant, similarly, made way for more modern facilities. Edgewater started production in November, 1930, and in its second year produced a record 725 units in one eight-hour shift. In 1935 it turned out a record production of nearly 110,000 cars and trucks. The highest production record in Edgewater's quarter of a century was established in 1954 when

35 Football Fields Could Fit In Ford Plant Area Here

Ford's new Mahwah assembly plant is described by the company's engineers as a single, integrated machine. But the size of the "machine" needed to assemble today's cars and trucks is so great that it covers an area larger than 35 football fields.

The one-story building 2,115 feet long and 790 feet wide provides 1,714,050 square feet of manufacturing space, including approximately 222,700 square feet for railroad and truck unloading docks and a 10,800 square foot quality control laboratory. Fronting the plant structure is a two-story administration building 301 feet long by 58 feet wide, containing office space for the plant's management organization.

Approximately 12,000 tons of structural steel were needed for the plant's framework. Its floor contains 42,000 cubic yards of concrete, and has 900 tons of ground iron in its surface to help it resist wear.

Engines, bodies, frames, wheels, and other car and truck components will be built up and brought together on a network of conveyors that would be more than 11 miles long, if stretched out in a continuous line.

Four major separate and distinct operations will be handled within the plant. The passenger car production system, occupying more than 1,030,000 square feet of floor space, will be spread over three-fifths of the assembly building. This system will be capable of producing 800 units per day on a two-shift, 16-hour basis.

The commercial, or truck, production system will occupy about 398,000 square feet and will have a production capacity of 280 units per day on a two-shift, 16-hour basis. Production facilities will accommodate all sizes and types of Ford commercial vehicles, and several new types will also be added.

Export boxing and shipping operations will be conducted at the plant in an area of 93,000 square feet, utilizing modern handling facilities and equipment.

The fourth section of the plant, measuring 145,000 square feet, will be turned over to new car and truck preparation where all final inspection checks are made prior to delivery of each unit to a spacious conveyer yard for rail to truck transfers.

The sewage disposal plant at each Service Area on the New York State Thruway is capable of serving a community of 1,000 persons.

Occupation At Mahwah Nike Site To Be 'In Near Future'

Mahwah's Nike site, located on Campgaw Road in Darlington, and its control site 4 1/2 miles away in Franklin Lakes, will be occupied by a unit of approximately 100 men from the 52nd Anti-aircraft Brigade in the "very near future," according to Major William Kenney of Fort Wadsworth, who is in charge of personnel at such sites in New York and New Jersey. Now nearing completion, the site must be formally turned over to the Army before a date for occupation may be set.

Located throughout the United States as an inner ring of defense for industrial, highly populated, and strategic areas, Nike (named after the goddess of victory of Greek mythology) is the end product of ten years of guided missile research, development, and engineering. It is the Army's first supersonic anti-aircraft guided missile designed to follow and destroy the enemy target regardless of the evasive action.

It is the first guided missile system to defend American cities against aerial attack. It can out-maneuver bombers, fighters or transport planes, and can operate regardless of weather conditions and visibility. It is also mobile, and, if necessary, can be transported by air. All units of the Nike system other than the launching racks are housed in specially designed all-weather van-type trailers.

System Mobile
Constructed emplacements, including underground launchers, are utilized, but the system itself is mobile. While the land requirement for each individual site is relatively small, positioning of the site is comparatively rigid. Only the absolute land interests necessary to emplace, operate and administer the weapon system and to afford safety protection is required.

Each battery requires from 40 to 50 acres, approximately six to eight acres for the control area and the remainder for the launcher area. Among the specialized requirements is the need for unobstructed line of sight between both areas.

Essentially, the Nike system consists of two parts: an expendable missile and ground-based launching and control equipment. It is a liquid-fueled supersonic anti-aircraft missile, approximately 20-feet long and about one foot in diameter, with two 145,980 passenger cars and trucks rolled off the assembly lines to dealers in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. The 1954 payroll was $14,980,000.

The 25-year production figure was 1,817,538 cars and trucks. Edgewater is a vital link in Ford's export operations. About 35 percent of the plant's production is earmarked for foreign markets. Virtually every unit loaded from Edgewater's docks for foreign ports represents a special job. Units going to distant countries must have high leaders and special tires. Cars shipped to mountainous countries require special gear miles, transmissions and castles to allow for high altitudes.

In 1948 a cadre of supervisors and hourly employees were transferred from Edgewater to start production at the company's new Lincoln-Mercury assembly plant in Edison Township (Middlesex County). For 30 years prior to that, Edgewater turned out 104,000 Mercury automobiles along with Ford passenger cars and trucks.

The plant is one in a network of Mercury Division plants and employs 2,900 people and operates on a 2-shift basis. The second shift having started just recently.

In 1954 the plant payroll was $10,300,000 and production for the year was 76,915 Mercury automobiles. Automobiles are shipped to dealers in 14 Eastern states and the District of Columbia, from Maine to North Carolina.

Two additional wings and three smaller buildings have been added to the plant over the last year as part of a $12,000,000 development program for Lincoln and Mercury.

"The Mercury plant went into production with the assembly of the first car on March 12, 1948. Output in 1948 totaled 41,596 and in 1949 rose to 57,783. Soon afterward, the Meridian operation joined to assembling Mercurys exclusively and the Lincoln assembly operations today are headed at Wayne, Minn., and Los Angeles, Calif.

The Parts Depot at Tebechoro which opened last year is one of a network of 27 located in key geographical market areas in the U.S., and services 381 Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers in Southern New York, Southern and Western Connecticut and the Northern half of New Jersey. Parts and accessories are also supplied for export shipments to over 700 dealers and branches in foreign countries.

Sales offices for the New York district for Ford and Lincoln and Mercury Divisions, as well as the Ford Division northeast region and Lincoln and Mercury regions, also are located in the Depot. A service school for training mechanics and service personnel of dealerships also is located in the building. The stock, ranging from tiny screws to automobile side panels, and numbering 16,000 different types, is received from Ford's own manufacturing facilities and from more than 625 outside suppliers.

Wayne's Capture Of Stony Point Fort To Be Commemorated

Stony Point will celebrate the Revolutionary War victory of General "Mad Anthony" Wayne there with a two-day fair tomorrow and Saturday.

The event will feature exhibits of cooking, sewing, knitting and flower arranging. The usual carnival booths, a shooting gallery, fishpond, baseball throw, and the rest are included. Square dancing each night of the fair is free to all. Free movies will be shown all during the evening. Kiddie rides will be there for the smaller fry.

The merchants of Stony Point have donated prizes to be given away to the crowds at the fair all during the two days. All a visitor has to do to be eligible to win one is to drop his name in a box at the fairgrounds at the Town Park at the foot of Lowland Hill.

A big parade is set for 5:30 p.m. on July 16. Winding through the main section of Stony Point, the parade will be one of the largest that Stony Point has ever had. It will have hundreds of marchers, a number of floats, bands and cars. The parade will be followed by speeches at the fairgrounds.

A doll parade, a pet show, a Little League baseball game, demonstrations by the Stony Point Ambulance Corps, the fire company, and the Boy and Girl Scouts will be carried on throughout the two-day program. A giant fireworks display will climax the big affair Saturday night.

Pickwick Players Now Presenting Romantic Comedy

"The Voice of the Turtle," John van Druen's romantic comedy dealing with the eternal problem of love versus sex, is the Pickwick Players' current offering at the Rockland County Playhouse on Old Greenbush Road, Blauvelt, Liz Dalton, who played to packed houses in this season's opening play, "Sabrina Fair," is playing Sally Middleton, the girl who is afraid to give herself to love. The part was originally played by Margaret Sullivan in the Broadway production which had such a long run. Olive Lashbrook, played by Nancy Wilder, who did such a good job as Mrs. Carroll in the play last week, and Bill Page, the man in her life, played by Evan Bonar, complete the cast in this hard-hitting comedy of modern manners in love.

The Pickwick Players present a bill of fare to audiences this year which seems to have been exceptionally well chosen if one is to judge by current business. The accent has been on variety, from the popular "Sabrina Fair" and "Time Out For Ginger" to bizarre love a la mode in "The Little Hut" with a good sampling of the classic in G. B. Shaw's "Candida" and the Pulitzer Prize play, "Picnic," in the offering.

In order of their appearance, the future plays will be: "See How They Run," fast moving farce comedy, from July 20 to July 24; "Picnic, Inge's moving story of real folks, July 27 thru July 31; and the popular "The Country Girl," August 3 through August 7.

"My Three Angels," the up-

Girl Scout News

Approximately 60 campers were welcomed Monday morning to Cranberry Lake Day Camp. Mrs. Pierson Mapes, committee chairman, reported that attendance the first day was 98 percent.

Under Miss Katherine Schroeder, swimming instructor, the scouts have been divided into groups of ten to fifteen with three adult staff members and four program aides assisting with the supervision of each swimming unit.

The girls were quick to appreciate the work that has been done during this past week to ready the camp for their arrival. Special recognition was given to Jay Shear, Jesse Tompkins and Ira Wickes Jr., all of the Suffern Rotary Club, who cleared two new camping areas and cut a new path, and to a group of 17 fathers from Sloatsburg who combined work-day activities and family picnics last Thursday to clean up permanent facilities and erect three tents.

Farm Bureau Says Farmers Pay More Than Gas Tax Share

In a letter to Farm Bureau members, Bruno Battocchi of Spring Valley, president of the newly formed Rockland County Farm Bureau, reports that a bill recently introduced by Congressman Fallon of Maryland (HR 7072) would increase the federal gasoline tax from 2c to 3c per gallon to help finance a proposed 12-year $47 billion federal highway program. According to Mr. Battocchi, the bill makes no provision to exempt non-highway farm-used gasoline from the federal tax; he points out that when gasoline is taxed for highway purposes without exempting non-highway gasoline, farmers bear an unreasonable and unfair tax burden.

Mr. Battocchi says that farmers have become very large users of non-highway gasoline and that gasoline has become an important item in farm costs. Farmers using 5,000 gallons of non-highway fuel per year are currently sending a gas tax of $100 to Washington. The same farmers under Congressman Fallon's proposal would be sending $150. He said it is conservatively estimated that U. S. farmers are currently sending $63 million per year to Washington as tax on farm-used gasoline.

In addition to the proposed increase in the federal gas tax, Mr. Battocchi says that the Fallon Bill would increase the tax on diesel fuel from 2c to 8c per gallon and tax on large truck tires (above 8 1/2 inches in diameter) and large inner tubes from 5c to 50c per pound. He points out that diesel fuel for farm use is exempt from federal tax.

Passenger cars traveling between Buffalo and Albany on the New York State Thruway can save at least 75 minutes.

Nearly 4,000 Needed Hospitalization Here

A total of 3,886 members of Associated Hospital Service, New York's Blue Cross, were hospitalized in 1954, it was announced today by Harry Sesan, vice president.

Blue Cross paid hospitals in Rockland County $470,102.01 for their care.

"Because of the partnership that exists between Blue Cross and its member hospitals," said Mr. Sesan, "it is possible to bring together those who need hospital care and those who provide it — the surest, most practical way to put real protection within reach of all."

Associated Hospital Service, New York's Blue Cross, now protects approximately 5,900,000 persons in the Greater New York area.

Among the 264 member hospitals of New York's Blue Cross are Good Samaritan Hospital, Suffern; Nyack Hospital; Pearl River Hospital; and Spring Valley Hospital.

Many hospital and public health laboratories will offer their services again in 1955 to analyze the Dreyfaks submitted by residents in the area for the presence of excess sugar. Many unknown cases of diabetes were turned up in the 1954 survey and were placed under treatment by their own physicians.

A simple test for determining the presence of excess sugar and the possibility of diabetes — a Dreyfak — is available. Two hundred thousand of them will be offered to New Jersey residents in November.

Hillburn Summer Recreation Slate Is Well Attended

Over 250 children participated in the Hillburn summer recreation program during the first four days last week, with 60 children appearing every day this week, according to a report of Edmund Kolakowski, director.

Mr. Kolakowski announced that boys between the ages of 9 and 12 who wish to play ball, will be organized to form a team. They will play teams from other playgrounds in the vicinity at the Suffern Athletic field in the mornings. Boys from 13 to 15 years of age are joining the ball teams under the direction of Bert Lyon, to play at the Suffern field in the afternoons.

A weekly contest is planned by Mr. Kolakowski and Mrs. Edward Bush, assistant, to take place every Friday. The contest will include checkers, pool, horse-shoe pitching, soft-ball shots and a variety of contests and games for younger children. Mrs. Bush is assisting in the morning session with puzzle making, clay modeling, arts and crafts and story telling.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lettino and children, Catherine and Elsie, of Coral Gables, Fla. are visiting Mrs. Lettino's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Davidson of Terrace Avenue.

Interest Lags Though Hoover's Suggestion Can Save Billions

The Hoover Commission has finished its monumental task of examining the Executive Branch of our Government from top to bottom, and recommending economies and efficient methods of procedure that could save roughly $8 billion per year. The amazing thing is that very few people are even faintly interested in whether the Government saves $8 billion or not. The headlines are all made by the spenders, and while our former President's admirers concede that he is right and that the Commission has probably done a worthwhile job, they really do not care less as to whether, or not the recommendations are put into effect.

Rep. Katharine St. George

The House passed the Senate Foreign Aid Bill of $3 1/2 billion and sent it to the President for signature. Most of this aid goes to Asia and most of it will be for armaments in that part of the world. Mr. Hensel, in testifying for the measure before the Committee, said it was to be regarded as insurance against war and was cheap at the price.

Arthur E. Burns, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, made an address recently in which he brought out some interesting facts:

"Around the middle of 1953, a contraction in economic activity got under way initially as a result of businessmen's efforts to correct an imbalance between production and sales that had emerged earlier in the year. This inventory adjustment was soon complicated and aggravated by the decline in military spending that followed upon the close of hostilities in Korea. To curb the gathering forces of contraction, the Federal government promptly embarked on a program of encouraging private spending through tax reductions, monetary ease, and good housekeeping."

"In September 1953 the Administration announced that a cut in personal income taxes, averaging around 10 percent for the lower and middle incomes and about 1 or 2 percent in the highest brackets, would become effective on January 1, 1954. The excess profits tax was allowed to terminate on the same date. Three months later a substantial reduction of excise taxes was enacted by the Congress. A little later the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 was adopted which, besides correcting various personal inequities, liberalized depreciation allowances on new investments, reduced the double taxation of dividends, and facilitated the treatment of research and development outlays as current expenses."

"These tax revisions, which reduced the nation's tax bill by the huge sum of 7.4 billion dollars on a full-year basis, were debated by the Congress extensively and, at times, with acrimony. The most significant fact about last year's tax debates, however, is that they centered on the magnitude and kind of tax cuts that would be most desirable, not on the question whether taxes should be raised or lowered."

"We had learned, through hard experience that in a time of declining business activity it is wiser to reduce taxes than to raise them, that tax reductions can effectively offset the decline in incomes that accompanies a decline of production, and that tax revisions can be used to bolster that confidence in the economic future on which any significant increase in private spending and employment must ultimately rest. Having learned these lessons well, we were able to carry out a tax policy which increased the ability as well as the willingness of consumers and businesses to augment spending."

"Another lesson that we have learned through experience — it would perhaps be more accurate to say relearned — is that an easing of credit conditions can be very helpful in checking an economic decline."

In other words, this Administration, through wise measures taken at the right time, actually turned what might well have been a gigantic depression into an era of great prosperity. Also, this Administration has reduced taxes in a little over two short years by $7.4 billion, and these things have been done without war and the synthetic prosperity that was always produced. Billions Against War? The House passed the Senate Foreign Aid Bill of $3 1/2 billion and sent it to the President for signature. Most of this aid goes to Asia and most of it will be for armaments in that part of the world. Mr. Hensel, in testifying for the measure before the Committee, said it was to be regarded as insurance against war and was cheap at the price. After his first month in office, Mr. Eisenhower's popularity index stood at 68 percent. In the 24-month period since then, there has been an absence of any wide fluctuation and the President's standing has remained high. Of special interest is the fact that his popularity now is high in all sections of the country.

Entire State Target For Fruit Mite, Says Entomologist

Leaf-feeding mites are probably the most troublesome pest now confronting fruit growers, according to a recent report made by Cornell University entomologist S. E. Lienk at the experiment station located in Geneva. Continuing his report, submitted to all county agricultural agents including William J. Clark of Rockland County, Mr. Lienk said codling moth, apple maggot or red-banded leaf roller may be the chief trouble-makers in certain orchards or areas, but mites may appear anywhere.

Permits Proposed For Village Street Work

A proposed ordinance requiring permits for work altering pavements of public streets in the village of Suffern will receive a public hearing at the next regular meeting of the board of trustees Monday evening, July 25. The ordinance as drawn up specifies construction, alteration, repair or grading of sidewalks, curbs, curb cuts, driveways or streets on any public street. Permits must be signed by the superintendent of water and sewer works and the superintendent of streets and countersigned by the village clerk.

7th Day Adventists To Hold Conference Near Sloatsburg

Seventh-day Adventists of the metropolitan New York City area will meet July 15-23 for their annual Bible Conference at Eagle Lake Park, near Sloatsburg, New York.

Approximately 3,000 members and their friends are expected to attend services during the 10-day session which will feature guest speakers from Washington, D. C., Texas and Massachusetts.

Among these will be Denton E. Rebock, Adventist leader in international denominational headquarters in Washington, D. C. Just returned from a three-month tour of Adventist missions in South Africa, Pastor Rebock has spent a lifetime in Christian service. He has been a missionary to China and President of the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in Washington, D. C. He will give devotional talks on the topic: "God Speaks to the Remnant Church."

Evangelist Fordyce Detamore, formerly a missionary in the Far East, will speak on "The World's Greatest Need," at the opening service, 8 p.m. Friday night, July 15.

Other speakers from Washington, D. C. include Francis D. Nichol, editor of the church weekly, the "Review and Herald"; E. J. Lornz, General Conference field secretary; W. J. Harris, associate secretary, Sabbath School Department; and Miss Louise Kleuser, associate secretary, Ministerial Association.

Pastor William A. Fagal and the quartet of the "Faith for Today" network telecast will present a program at 8:15 Saturday afternoon, July 16.

Daily classes in lay evangelism will be provided for church members. A program of Bible classes, story hours, youth sermons, hikes, swimming and other recreational activities is planned for the children and youths.

Music for the camp session will be under the direction of Dr. Oliver S. Betz of Washington, D. C., who will also conduct a class for church musicians.

For the first time during the conference, the new youth lodge, which young people of the church, pastors and laymen have been helping to build during the past year, will be used. The lodge will provide facilities so that the camp can be used the year around as a recreational center for New York City young people.

To be successful, diabetes detection surveys require participation of the individual, the laboratory, and the physician in case of referral. Unless the person with a positive reaction goes to his physician, there can be no medical determination of whether there is diabetes. Unless the physician reports to the survey people on the result of the referral, there can be no measurement of the case-finding effort.

To Ask Correction Of Problems Caused By Building Thruway

The residents of Johnstown Road turned out in force Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Sloatsburg Village Board to seek relief from the problems of drainage and dust caused by Thruway construction in that area. Recent heavy thunderstorms have clogged drains and flooded lawns and cellars, doing considerable damage, according to the residents, and dirt washed down on the road has created a considerable dust hazard during dry weather.

Arthur McClintock and Edward Welch, acting as spokesman for the group, stated that some temporary relief was given when chemicals were put on the road to keep the dust down. The drainage of water running off the construction area down Johnstown Road always created a problem and, according to Mr. Welch, his damages to date have exceeded $1,000.

Mayor Richards McCormick and the board members were in complete agreement with the residents on the problem and promised to do everything in their power to induce the Thruway Authority to take action to correct the situation.

"We have had very little cooperation from the Thruway officials, but we'll stay on their back until we get some satisfaction," said the mayor.

He also said that he had called Thruway officials in Albany on this complaint and had received assurances that an official would be present Tuesday evening to meet with the board and visit the Johnstown Road area. He also invited Mr. McClintock to attend this meeting, as a representative of the residents.

The petition of Pine Groves Lakes Developers, Inc. to have the village annex 54 acres of their property was found legally correct by the village attorney, but the board did not take action on the resolution to put the matter up to a permissive referendum of the taxpayers. Because of the absence of Trustee James Izzo, Mayor McCormick postponed any decision until Tuesday evening when the full board would be present.

Judge Francis Goetschius, attorney for the developers, spoke in favor of adding the property to the village, as the new homes would add approximately $600,000 to the assessed valuation of the village.

Hugo's Chevrolet of Sloatsburg was low bidder for a new police car at $1,009 that included the trade-in of the old police car. Shostak Motors of Suffern was the only other bidder, naming the amount of $1,725 with the old car.

The Rogo Trucking Company was the only bidder on the road oiling work. Bid was $5 per yard for 3/4-inch pea gravel spread, $15 per hour for a mechanical sweeper and $11 per hour for use of a 10-ton roller. The bid was accepted by the board.

Gilbert McNair requested the board to give consideration of protecting the property of the St.

Board Has Second Meeting To Clear Away Heavy Agenda

Problems created by Thruway construction and developments caused the Sloatsburg Village Board to have an added session Tuesday evening as well as Monday. Both sessions sat until after midnight.

At the Tuesday meeting, Mayor Richard McCormick reported that he and Trustees Walter Fisher and Paul Mueller had met that evening with William Bristow, maintenance superintendent for the southern area, and discussed the drainage and dust conditions in the Johnstown Road area.

According to Mr. Bristow, drainage was adequate but silt carried into the drains clogged them. He said he would rectify this by sodding drains and taking the first tier of bricks from the high side, to allow the drain to operate more efficiently.

Another remedy proposed by Mr. Bristow is calcium treatment of the road until it is paved. He also said that paving would be completed in that area within one month's time.

The drain around the home of Walter Conklin would be corrected as well as drainage on Waldron Terrace by having a bulldozer grade the land away from the homes.

Mr. Bristow also said he would make it his business to be informed on any problems arising in the village as a result of Thruway construction and promised to cooperate fully in every possible way.

The proposed annexation of 54 acres owned by the Pine Grove Lakes Developers was discussed at length by board as all members were present Tuesday evening. The board was in complete agreement that the annexation of property to be included within the village limits was desirable for the future expansion of the village, but the petition of the developers left a number of questions unanswered. The trustees recalled that other corporations had had big plans for developing the former Ramapo Heights property, but anything approaching these grandiose plans had thus far failed to materialize.

The board members also considered the effect that influx of approximately 1000 new residents would have on the village and deemed the whole question much too important to be decided in so short a time as two weeks.

The board unanimously voted to table the petition for further study and to meet with officials of the developing corporation to ascertain such facts as type of homes, number of homes and provisions for utilities.

As unfinished business from Monday's meeting, the board approved the bid of the RCA Corporation on radio and walkie-talkies for the fire department. The RCA bid was $1,193 for the complete installation. The Motorola company also submitted a bid of $1,230 for the complete set and installation.

Charles Barba was approved as an active member of the Sloatsburg Fire Department.

A going away party was given Monday evening for William Herbert, one of the original members of the Ramapo Valley Eagles 4H Club, who is going into the Navy in the near future. The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fleishman in Ramapo Heights. About 20 guests were present.

Francis Episcopal Church next to the carnival grounds. He was assured by the board every means would be used to protect the church grounds.

Pothal's Land

the great sachems, Manes, Kahawie, Shawekis and Sawwaky, who were the chiefs of the different branches of the tribe. The tract consisted of the land lying on both sides of the Ramapo river that lay within the Patent. The deed between Van Blaricum and the Indians passed into the hands of a man named Van Duser, whose first name is unknown. About twenty years before the Revolution, he sold the southeastern part of it to Samuel Sidman.

In 1738, Wynant Van Gelder, of Bergen County, in New Jersey, bought a section of the western part of Van Blaricum's tract and also the western part of the Ramapo Pass. Van Duser had died and the property again had become the land of the Indians. Van Gelder bought it from them. The land included the present site of what is now known as Sloatsburg.

The deed was written by a Dutchman who had very little knowledge of the English language. This fact explains the difficulty one has when trying to read it. On it are the marks of Manis, Wactan, Sewes, Aglo and Nakama. The witnesses are Abraham and Annase Lerou. It is supposed that they might have been relatives of the author of the deed, or perhaps only guests. However, the true facts are not known.

Nine years later on July 13, 1747, Van Gelder transferred the land to his son-in-law, Isaac Van Duser, by an assignment on the back of the original deed.

Van Duser was probably the first white man to actually live in this valley. His residence was near the present site of Ramapo, New York. On June 3, 1763, he gave the tract to his son-in-law, as he had received it, by an assignment underneath the one that had been written for him. This time the line extended to the property of Edward Parleman who was living on the western bank of Stony Brook, on the way to Johnsonstown.

Van Duser's son-in-law, Stephen Sloat, married Martha Van Duser a few years before the land was given to him. His children were John, who was the eldest, Isaac, who inherited the estate, Mary, who married a New York City merchant and Elizabeth, who died in her teens.

The people who had settled in the valley by that time were the Van Dusers, their daughters' families, (they had nine of them) including the Stephen Sloats, and also a few "squatter families" like the Parlemans who had moved in. These people supported themselves almost exclusively by farming. The men also hunted and fished while the women and children tended large gardens called "kitchen gardens." The chief exception to this rule was Sloat who helped his father and grandfather with a merchandising business in Collier's Hook, Haarlem. (Stephen Sloat's grandfather, Peter, came from Holstein, Holland and was the first of the family to come to this country. He bought land at Collier's Hook, where he and his son built a store and also started a farm. This was the place where Stephen worked during the early years of his life in Sloatsburg.)

Employees Move With Ford From Edgewater To Mahwah

When Ford moves assembly operations from Edgewater to Mahwah over the weekend, all of the 2,900 but 10 who are retiring will transfer to jobs at the new plant.

More than two years ago, the company told employees of its plans to build a plant three times larger than the 25-year-old facility presently located at Edgewater in southeastern Bergen County. A new plant, the announcement said, not only would provide additional production capacity needed to meet the expanding East Coast market for Ford cars and trucks, but would provide more space and better facilities on the job for the employees.

In the months that followed, the plant newspaper carried frequent reports of construction progress at Mahwah, and general news about the new location. An information office was set up by the plant's industrial relations department to provide housing facts, and a committee was created to coordinate the moving job.

By June 15, when a final survey was taken, only 10 employees at Edgewater said that due to early summer retirement they would not take jobs at Mahwah.

Already some employees have found new homes for their families in or near Mahwah, while a majority have decided that they already live close enough to the new plant to make commuting by highway practical.

Pickwick Players Score With Van Druen's 'Voice of Turtle'

By BETZI MANOOGIAN

The Pickwick Players are presenting this week a very pleasant little comedy called "The Voice of the Turtle." It's the kind of thing they do very well and audience enjoyed themselves immensely, but if you have a rigid old-time conscience, you'd better not go... it's got a lot of S - x in it. Of course, there is more to it than that. It is really the story of two nice young people who are a little bit lonely and a little bit hurt and how they find each other.

Liz Dalton played the heroine Sally Middleton with a most disarming wide-eyed innocence, a bewitching hair-do, three stunning dresses and just the right amount of joie de vivre.

Nancy Wilder, also elegantly costumed, perfectly coiffured and sophisticated from her long red nails to her smooth slim hips, purred and switched her way through the role of an actress who has "been around." Olive Lashbrook.

Ivan Bonar, missing from last week's show, was back as the dashing young man whom Olive, to her regret, stood up and who, to his delight, discovered Sally. Ivan is a fine-looking young man with good, competent acting ability and his technique for kissing young ladies on the stage leaves nothing to be desired.

He has just exactly that perfect "I shouldn't... but I can't resist" timing which Clark Gable does so well, and yet his overall performance is too restrained. There is a formality and control, especially about his speech which seems somehow to block the free emphatic flow between him and the audience.

James Gordon, the scene designer, really must have had a time fitting a three-room apartment into the not exactly capacious

Rev. Merritt Webb at the 11 a.m. service at the Suffern Methodist Church on Sunday.

Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet at 6:30 Sunday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Miller.

Pickwick stage, but he certainly managed well. The apartment looked suitably realistic, yet not monotonous. The light-lines were excellent. The kitchen with a real refrigerator and modern cabinets was truly a triumph. Also, the lamps throughout the apartment were stunning.

Philip Robinson, as usual, did a very nice job of direction.

Ford Move

Control centers will be set up at Edgewater and Mahwah on an around-the-clock basis and the routes will be patrolled by radio-telephone cars to provide emergency services. Cafeterias at both plants will stay open night and day throughout the move to provide hot coffee and meals.

As the last assembly is done by a department, the production workers of that department will begin packing and tagging their equipment for movement to waiting trucks and rail cars.

In most cases, the trucks will be loaded with material from only one department. When the truck reaches Mahwah, it will move to one of the 18 truck receiving docks at the new plant and unload for delivery to the several departments.

This means that a final assembly line employee at Edgewater who lays down his tools Friday will pick up the same tools Tuesday at a comparable spot on the assembly line in Mahwah.

Many of the sub-assembly lines at Edgewater work far enough ahead to permit closing them a day before the final line goes down. To permit complete vehicles to come off Mahwah assembly lines Tuesday, it was necessary to start feeding the system a month earlier. In this manner, all new machinery was tested and adjusted to meet operational requirements.

The Mahwah plant is the largest assembly operation in the Ford Division's national network of 16 assembly plants. Plants at

Ramapo Democrats Are Urged To Fight Upstate Dam Plan

Keeping the forest preserve in New York State "forever wild" and voting "No" this November on an amendment permitting the construction of Panther Dam was urged last evening by Ruth Gillette Hardy, leading conservationist, of Pomona Country Club in her talk before some 50 members of the Town of Ramapo Democratic Club.

She spoke on the lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph St. Lawrence on Campbell Avenue, Suffern. Pointing out that a very thorough study of the question had been made some years ago by a Commission appointed by Senator Herbert Lehman, then Governor, which concluded that any floods on the Moose rivers in the Fulton chain could easily be controlled by check dams, Miss Hardy said that there is no reason to reverse this decision now.

Furthermore, she said, the entire Watertown and Carthage area can receive plenty of cheap power from the St. Lawrence River development as quickly as from any projected dam at Panther mountain.

Suffern Board To Meet In Public On Land Use

At a public hearing Monday at 8 p.m. the Suffern village planning board will present its recommendation will cover requirements for a land use plan for the area north of Lafayette Avenue and east of the avenue's intersection with Oakdale Manor.

The planning board's recommendation will cover requirements for permission to build structures consistent with the health, safety, morals and general welfare of the community.

Louisville, Ky. and San Jose, Calif., also were opened earlier in the year.

The three plants are part of Ford's post-war expansion program that will have cost $1.7 billion when current projects are completed.

188-hp Buick SPECIAL 6-Passenger, 4-Door RIVIERA, Model 43

This 4-Door Beauty is the Newest Hit in Hardtops

You certainly ought to come in and see for yourself why this new kind of hardtop is headed for the best-seller list.

It's a Buick Riviera, of course. Which means the low and rakish look of a Convertible—a solid steel roof overhead—and no center posts in the side window areas to obstruct your view.

But that's only the beginning. Here you get two extra doors. They open to the rear compartment. So no one in the front has to move when someone gets into or out of the rear.

Here you get massive half-pillars on either side on which the front doors latch and the rear doors hinge. (That's why you see no center posts above the door line.)

Here, too, you get wholly new principles in body design and strength that give the extra safety of rock-firm solidity at the top, sides and bottom.

And here—bless those Buick engineers!—you get a lot more room in the rear compartment.

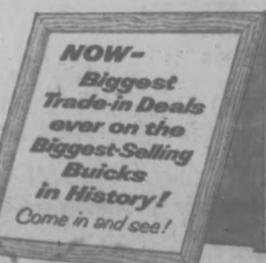

For the 4-Door Riviera gives you over 9 inches more hiproom and 5 inches more legroom—yet with no increase in wheelbase or over-all car length.

So we repeat—you certainly ought to come in and see this stunning new kind of hardtop.

It's the very last word in beauty, comfort, convenience. It's available in Buick's two lowest-priced Series—the SPECIAL and the CENTURY. And it's all Buick—with Buick Power, Buick ride, Buick handling—and the spectacular performance of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Drop in today—tomorrow at the latest—and learn what Buick's all time record sales year can mean to you in the way of a whopping-big trade-in deal.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

VOL. 61 THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1955 NO. 37

Ramapo Rambblings WePonderWeandUphillRun

SCANNING THE YELLOWED PAGES of a 20-year-old RAMAPO VALLEY INDEPENDENT we noted a front page story relating the demise of a "knight of the cinder paths." Said "knight," apparently tiring of Rockland County climate, was attempting to board a rattler north of the railroad crossing in Hillburn. Somehow or other he slipped and was found lying beside the tracks in critical condition. A few hours later he gained final freedom in Good Samaritan Hospital.

According to authorities he had a criminal record as long as your arm. The "criminal record" was actually a classified account of a series of mistakes made while practicing his trade: freedom. The 55-year-old hobo, as others of his ilk, had aroused the suspicions of authorities from one end of our land to the other because he lacked a practical trade. He was then taken out of circulation for the usual 30 or 60 days.

The hobo-gone vacations, which may or may not have brightened his life, still hang heavy (especially during the summer months) over the heads of his brothers who choose freedom over a hot-house existence.

Perhaps such thinking may be attributed to the recent heat spell, but how many times has the thought occurred to each of us: "Brother of the Road, how I'd like to join you on the first rattler to anywhere."

A RUGGED ATHLETIC EVENT will be held in Haverstraw Saturday evening, July 23. A vertical marathon up High Tor, an old-time annual event revived in recent years, will be run once again. The origin of the High Tor Run is lost in antiquity, but it is assumed to be a relic of the summer entertainments of the brickyard men and boaters in the simpler days of yore. After a hard week (and those were weeks of six long days) of hauling brick, what better way to relax than to run up the mountain and down again in wholesome competition?

THE EDITORIAL "WE" IS A STRANGE THING. It started a long time ago and apparently was not meant to have a high-and-mighty meaning. Most likely WE meant the staff of the publication, though it has a funny sound in phrases like "While cracking our breakfast egg this morning, WE got to thinking..." WE have been using WE for years now, but, believe US, WE-uns is as confused as you-all. Following are some verses from our esteemed contemporary, the New Britain, (Conn.) Herald that express these thoughts neatly:

"WE" The Editor(?)
I think that I shall never see
The phantom editors known as "we."
They, of that small, sequestered room,
Whose actual form we can only assume.
All worthy columns, if you'd note them,
Are cleverly headed by those who wrote them;
But readers, alas, are filled with frustration
By the two-letter pronoun identification
Of those ensconced in that verbal dominion
Wherein is conceived their collective opinion.
Perhaps their fear of human proximity
Has fashioned this wall of anonymity.
But whatever the reason, the fact does remain
That they foolishly forfeit their claim to fame,
And remain in the shadows, safely cocooned,
Least the "Is" of their "We" be harshly revealed.
For, though papers are read by fools like me,
Only kings and editors answer to We.

Photo Quiz Bermuda Shorts On The Job? Surprising Replies In Village

Question: How do you feel about men wearing "Bermuda" shorts during business hours?
Place: Lafayette Avenue and Chestnut Street, Suffern.

William Kaandier, pharmacist:

"I don't see why there is so much discussion about the matter. Those I have seen are neat and clean. I should think they would be quite suitable for any place of business where strict formality is not required. Certainly, men should wear them to business or any other place they please."

Nicholas Carissimi, liquor dealer: "I believe in comfort. If a man is more comfortable in Bermuda shorts in warm weather, then, by all means, he should wear them. He will be more efficient and pleasanter to his associates if he is comfortable."

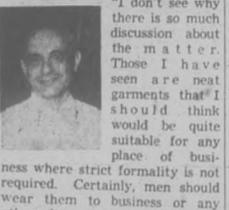

John W. Medve, high school mathematics teacher: "I see it as a matter of custom. It must have been difficult getting used to seeing men in trousers when the fashion changed from knee breeches. This is just another change in fashion which may or may not persist, but, to my mind, it's perfectly all right. So long as a garment is decent and neat, a man should wear it if he feels more comfortable."

Larry Flaig, bowling alleys operator: "My business is recreation, so Bermuda shorts fit in very well. As for other kinds of business, why shouldn't a man wear clothes that make him feel more at ease? I say the more comfortable the style, the more reason for wearing it. Who would want men to go back to tall stiff collars and woolen jackets in the summer time?"

Harry C. McIntosh, milk dealer, Suffern village trustee: "My opinion is divided right down the middle on esthetic grounds. When I have seen Bermuda shorts and thought they were good-looking, the man wearing them had well-shaped athletic legs. When I thought they looked terrible, the wearer had knobby knees; fat calves or no calves. A man contemplating the grave matter of Bermuda shorts should consider his public and give them a break. If they look good, they are okay. In my opinion, for business."

Eli Ogden, machinist: "My taste is conservative and I don't think I'll ever get used to seeing grown men in knee pants. But, at the same time, I think a man has the right to decide for himself what he should wear. I also believe that, if an employer wants to make rules against Bermuda shorts in his office, he should have the place air conditioned so that there is no need for such clothes."

It's usually the man who is striving to do right who is amazed at the opportunities to do wrong.

The Ramapo Gardener

Spare That Tree! A Variety Of Plants Thrive In Shady Places

By BETZI MANOOGIAN

July is the time when one appreciates every stray breeze and the blessing of cool shade. Ramapo abounds in lovely leafy trees to stand between a man and the shimmering heat of the sun and it is a sore grief to the heart of a gardener to see home after new home being built on the sacrifice of so many of these treasured possessions.

And it is a sacrifice because it is mostly unnecessary. Ever to have a flower garden, one need not cut down all or even most of the shade trees. Of course, some like the wild locusts are terrible nuisances because they spread by underground root and pop up everywhere even in the lawn, but mostly a property needs only a judicious thinning of its valuable trees, with perhaps the addition of a specimen tree here and there.

There are many lovely flowers and shrubs which will grow in the flickering shade and sun. There are ferns which grow from three to five feet high such as the cinnamon, interrupted and goldie ferns, all with their own characteristics and which are lovely additions as background foliage... also many lower growing kinds.

Lily of the valley and the beautiful leaved hosta thrive in the vicinity of low, dense shrubs; there are over 100 kinds of cultivated violets to choose from and where taller flowers are desired in light shade, you can grow lovely anemones, the feathery astilbe which comes in red, pink or white, cardinal flower, the dainty coral bells about which a song has been written, and the pansy and the primrose for lower touches of color.

You really don't know what a day-lily is like if you think only in terms of the common flower which grows in almost weed-like quantities in this country. The new hemerocallis hybrids are simply stunning. Not only do they have the hardy toughness of our wild day-lily but they have a varied blooming season so that it is possible to get different plants which in the right combinations will bloom from May thru September. And the colors are heavenly. Salmon and rose and pink and white... you'll love them.

Bluebells and bleeding heart are surely not to be neglected in selecting flowers for a shady garden and there is no more glamorous flower than the tuberosa begonia even though it must be lifted each fall as it is

Fact And Fancy

Rationalize 'The War Of The Sexes?' Here's An Attempt

By Elisabeth

Men, God bless 'em, are different. They are not superior to women, nor inferior... although they seem to have a mass inferiority complex. They are just different. Any alert woman with half an eye can see this, but it helps to realize that this is possibly more of a cultural difference than a natural one and, therefore, there is hope that something can be done about emphasizing those differences which are appealing and canceling out those which are merely trying.

Of course, we are not referring to physical characteristics. Although, as far as we know, there are definite physical distinctions, there are far more physical similarities... legs, arms, hearts, livers and even heads. In fact, the heads might be considered a most important similarity, in that it is in the use of the head where men are more like women than like, say, gorillas.

It is true, however, that a pretty good case can be made out that men are born different rather than made that way, if one sticks only to the obvious biological high points. But such half-truths have a way of distorting the picture. With that type of reasoning, it is possible to prove that blue-eyed people are blue-eyed or more passionate than blue-eyed ones.

Scientific thought, today, frowns on such jumping to conclusions and encourages us to collect all the facts no matter how irrelevant they may seem, before we make hasty judgments. In this light it would seem that the physical make-up of a human being is only one part, with the mind and the emotions being equally important.

Now men's minds are a prime example of the part society plays in imposing these arbitrary limitations. Sociologically speaking, men are not really to blame for their illogicality, insensitivity, gullibility and tendency to oversimplify. (Naturally, one should not generalize completely; there ARE shining examples of men

Reader Raps Manners Of Little League Spectators

By PAUL WENL

The founders of Little League and the men in this community who have worked so hard to bring it to Ramapo were motivated by the principles for which it was established — to promote active participation in safe organized play, to provide competition in the American way, to encourage good sportsmanship and fair play, and to teach the game. As a spectator with no axe to grind (I have no children in the League), I appeal to parents and spectators in general to stop their frequently outrageous behavior at the games. Because of bitterness in other communities the League has been disbanded; it could happen here.

At a recent game, after a questionable call, one spectator yelled to the umpire in a voice clearly audible to those in the stands as well as the children on field, "Whatcha got, money on the game?" and another shouted that the umpire "owned" half the team. Later I was told by a parent that the umpires consistently favored one team, and by another that this team won only because it cheated. One of the men who umpired last year told me he refused to do so again this year because of the abuse he received from the spectators during and after the game.

The lack of sportsmanship on the part of parents and spectators cannot help but infect the youngsters. Of course when games are close and tension high, in the heat of excitement people lose their heads, but the display the other night was inexcusable. "Rhubarbs" may be part of organized baseball, but irresponsible and slanderous comments have no part in Little League.

Before we condemn the younger generation for lack of manners, discipline and respect for authority, let us look at ourselves and our behavior. I have seen this same sort of conduct on the part of some spectators at high school football, basketball and wrestling matches. Let's take stock of ourselves and realize that unless we set a good example the sportsmanship awards that our school has so consistently won will be a thing of the past and our athletic contests will disintegrate into brawls.

Sidelines on Sports

By DICK WELSH

Things are starting to look brighter for Avon in its Community League efforts to catch Rocky's as the two teams go down the wire neck-and-neck. One of the main reasons Avon can afford a smile is that Tommy (Double No-Hit) Dunnigan has established himself as the stand-out pitcher in the league.

From his younger days as a wild fireballing righthander, Tommy has developed into a fine pitcher, retaining his youthful blaze, but also acquiring a keen knack for control and pitching know-how. Dunnigan is a picture of a real craftsman on the hill. He is a tall, rangy athlete with a true Dunnigan heart for competition. Tommy eats up a tough situation that requires all the essential pitching tools, and he has them all.

His most recent no-hit job stamps itself as one of the most notable Community League masterpieces ever. Well into the second half of the season, and two full games behind the leading team, Avon and Dunnigan could not afford to drop this game.

He was stacked against one of the very best batting orders of the wondrous imagination of Art DeJolie ever compiled. Not unusual for this team was a game that would see it break loose for a 20-hit total.

The heat of the July Fourth afternoon, the trust of Avon, and the shrieks of a cold, fearless enemy all were carried on this young man's back that afternoon. In the cool, refreshing way he handles himself always, Tom Dunnigan pitched his team back in the race with a 1-0 no-hit victory. Tom had some fine help from his teammates, especially Joe Frankoski and Stan Grodecki.

Frankoski was the only man to get past first base all day, and it was his excellent maneuvers on the base paths that scored the only run of the game. Grodecki, a Wes Westrum who can hit, threw out three of the four runners Dunnigan allowed before they smelted second.

However, it was the pitching that stole the show. Dunnigan poured in fast ball after fast ball, walking four and pitching to only one over the limit of 21 for the seven-inning game. Rocky's tried everything. In the early innings Frankoski, Wil Eschen and Ken Keosky made sparkling plays. Later, when Frank De Patta tried a bunting game, Jack Cranney's steady hands at first base bore the burden.

The riddles of an early inning argument, Badger Chamberlain's taunts at first base and a highly-contested set of umpires, failed to upset Mr. Pitcher.

WILLIE WINS IT AFTER DUKE'S ERROR
Whenever the Giants and Dodgers bump heads on the same field, it's bound to be a great game, and Sunday afternoon's 3-2 Giant win was extra special. We had the pleasure of occupying a box seat at the Polo Grounds that afternoon.

Beside the fact that our team won, it was a game that produced some of the greatest defensive play we've ever seen. Through the early stages of the game, while Sal Maglie was falling behind 2-0, Dodger defenses sparkled. Pee Wee Reese made a fine catch of a line drive Willie Mays hit, and Pee Wee teamed up with Don Zimmer for two slightly double plays.

A broken bat double by Snider and then Maglie's balk gave the Dodgers a quick 2-0 lead before Al Dark's hit cut the lead in half. Both Maglie and Erskine had departed when the fun started in the seventh inning.

Whitey Lockman, up with two on and one down, socked a terrific liner which Gil Hodges nabbed and turned into a D.P. It is our theory that had Hodges not mitted the ball, it would have continued its rise and come into the lower deck in right for a home run. With Mays at third in the eighth, Carl Furillo raced to the Giant bullpen for Dark's smash. Both catches were miraculous, but in the end served to create a bottom of the ninth and Mays' hit.

In the top of the ninth, with the ball park in bedlam, Don Mueller ran back and then Lockman in to grab line drives. These great catches got the Giant fans warm for the ninth.

Never were we so surprised as to see Ray Katt get a hit, and then Bill Taylor another. Then came Snider's error to set up the Giant's win. Duke's throw to the wrong base sent the tying run home and the winning run to third.

It was a great game for Giant fans. It proved Duke can do some bad, and when he does Mays proceeds to put him right on the spot. Also, very important was the fact that Walt Alston, as so many Brook fans can't, couldn't trust Don Newcombe to get the big win for his team.

Davies' Farms Snaps Dunnigan Win Streak
Dunnigan's Sunday morning successes hit the skids this weekend as a late inning punch by Davies' Farms took a 4-3 win from the locals. The Wayne Ave. aggregation held a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the seventh when Tommy Dunnigan lost his stuff plus infield support and proceeded to blow the lead.

Dunnigan was working on a patchwork line-up as seven of its regulars were not in the game. Vacations and work interfered to the extent that Joe Dunnigan started at first base, Bob Dunnigan at second, and Gene moved into shortstop from his customary backstop position which Stan Grodecki inherited.

The patchwork quilt unit, however, managed a 2-0 lead over its first seven turns at bat and behind

Lady on the spot

It was ten minutes before train time when the girl missed her purse. No ticket, no money and almost no time. Things looked black for the party week end.

That's when the girl told her story to the operator on duty at the public telephone center. The operator called the girl's father. He said he'd send a messenger with some money. But . . .

By the time the messenger arrived at the railroad station the train was gone—and the girl was on it. The money for her ticket, and a little more besides, had been advanced by the operator, out of her own pocket.

Unusual? Well, perhaps. But even though telephone people are busy these days, they manage to find time for the little courteous "extras" that make your telephone service always so friendly and personal. New York Telephone Company.

Dunnigan Wildness, Key Dinette Hits, Spell Avon Defeat

In the first major upset of the Community League Season, Avon's pennant time table took a turn for the worse, Tuesday evening when Frank Karkos' athletes blew a 6-0 lead and ended up on the short end of 10-9 outcome with Dinette, a vastly improving club. The Dinettes won the game with rallies in the second and third innings in which they scored all 10 runs against Tommy (Double No-Hit) Dunnigan.

Taking advantage of four infield errors, the Avon team, on only two basehits, jumped off to a six run lead in the first two innings before Hank Bender settled down and his mates got their offense rolling. The Dinettes batted around in the second, scored seven runs and grabbed the lead. In the next frame they completed their scoring with three more runs which was enough for the big upset.

Avon Blows Chances
After taking a handsome lead early in the game, Avon blew numerous scoring chances later in the game which could have avoided defeat in the one-run affair. In all, the losers stranded eight, including the tying run in the seventh inning at second base with one down.

Three errors on the first four batters and then a single by Kenny Keosky, a walk, and another boot accounted for five Avon tallies in the first frame. Wilber Eschen doubled across another run in the second after John Frankoski led off with a single.

The game's chances for Dinette improved in the second inning when Dunnigan grew wild, walked four batters and hit a fifth. Spaced singles by Joe Morgan, Gary White, and Ed Wysocki kept the inning moving before seven runs paraded across home plate.

Morgan's single came after Andy Amorosi was hit by a pitch. Then walks were issued to Tom Nappo and Bender. White then singled to left but Joe Frankoski's toss nipped Bender at third to tie the Dinette rally. Bill Tarantino rapped a double-play ball which Keosky booted at second to open the door to four more runs.

Meanwhile Hank Bender was regaining his touch on the mound and holding Avon to just four hits over the final five innings. Singles by John Frankoski in the fourth and sixth led to Avon runs which closed the gap but never quite made the grade. Keosky and Joe Frankoski collaborated in the fifth with basehits for another Avon run.

Dunnigan had trouble again in the third with the bottom of the Dinette order as Ed Wysocki's single started a three run rally, Jack Cranney booted Art D'Avanzo's bunt after Wysocki's hit and the trouble started. Before the inning was over, Rocky De Patta and Amorosi both singled and the third place team was in front 10-6.

Using every resort, the locals pushed in another run in the first extra frame and held a 3-2 lead as the game reached the last of the eighth. But the winners scored twice to pull out the squeaker.

With a full team in view, Dunnigan's is planning on better results this week when it meets its 1953 arch-rival Rocky's on the Suffern Field Sunday morning at 11. Chances are Tommy Dunnigan will get a second shot at bluffing the talented Rocky's batting list.

Sr. Louis Cardinals To Hold Try-Out Camp

The St. Louis Cardinals will conduct a tryout camp for all players between 17 and 23 years of age at Veterans' Field, Ridgewood, N. J., today, Friday and Saturday, it was announced yesterday by the National League team representative, Fred Hering. Mr. Hering said Cardinal scouts Benjie Borgmann and Frank Cresspi, the latter a former second baseman with the Cards during the early 1940's, will supervise workouts each day beginning at ten a.m. Candidates who wish to attend the camp need only bring a glove, baseball shoes and a uniform, if they have one. Playing equipment will be furnished by camp personnel, he said.

Camp Products
Continuing his announcement, Mr. Hering said Al "Red" Schoendienst, Harvey Adix, Ken Royer, Herb Moford and Bobby Tefenauer, now members of the parent team, were discovered in tryout camps. The ability of each player will be judged by scouts trained for that purpose and those players selected as potential Red Birds will be offered a contract to begin their careers in the Cards' minor league system.

Expenses involved in attending the camp will be refunded to any boy signed to a contract with the organization, said Mr. Hering.

One final stipulation was mentioned by the representative: Legion players must have written permission from their Post Commanders or coaches to attend the sessions.

Yanks Trip Injuns, Giants As Lead Continues In LL Play

The Yankees edged the Giants and routed the Indians as they continued their mastery in the Ramapo Little League through early play in the second half of the schedule. In Monday night's key game with the Giants, the Yanks scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to take a 6-5 victory. The Jints led 5-4 going into the last inning after the lead had see-sawed back and forth during the earlier frames.

Tuesday evening, the Yankees mixed some excellent bunts with timely extra base blows to rout the Indians 12-3. Glenn Haldenwang, Dave Rounds, and Bob Mackey all took turns on the mound while at bat their mates were making it four straight in the second-half. The Yanks' rock-solid offense steadily through the game, although the Injuns had closed the gap to 3-2 at one point.

Giant Victories
Only a mediocre ball club in the first half, the Giants are sparking for Tom France as the second half grows older. Last Wednesday the team came from behind to beat the Dodgers 7-5 and then cooled the Red Sox 13-3 Thursday night. Whether or not the Giants will be able to catch the spirited Yanks depends not only on their play but also setting a lift from some other club, which can find the means to stop the front runners.

In Wednesday's game with the Dodgers, that was twice interrupted by rain before finally being pitched of John Brendel held off Dodger bats until hitting by Chuck Wanamaker, Jim Conklin, and Bill Mottola downed the Flood. Just before the rains came for good, the Dodgers had closed the gap to 7-5 behind a tremendous home run over the centerfield fence by Ricky Doremus. Ricky had been in a long batting slump but his two hits in this game may be the cure, or so Ken Wanamaker hoped.

While the second half schedule is running out, the new Little League Park, donated by Anthony Cuccolo, continues to round into playing shape. The field is located at the extreme south end of the Suffern Athletic Field. Early in August the field is to be dedicated and reports are that a former major league ballplayer, now living in this area will be the guest speaker. Depending on whether the Yanks repeat as champions in the second half, either a playoff game or All-Star game will be played that day at the new park.

Light & Power Fails, Avon Circuits Take Victory 15 To 5

Struggling hard to stay with the pack, Avon got back on the winning side in the Industrial League Thursday with a 15-5 win over Rockland Light and Power at its home field. Three home runs in the first inning by Wilbur Eschen, Gary Haring, and John Frankowski got the locals off to an 11-2 lead. Beaten by the same team a week before, Tony Iannacone was able to coast to his first win in almost a month.

Avon's big bats, which rapped out a total of 16 hits, countered the early jitters of Iannacone and carried Tony until he steadied down in the fifth inning and pitched with his old-time style. Eschen and Kenny Keosky paced the assault with three blows apiece, while three other Blue and Gold warriors had two.

Rock Tallies
Rockland Light reached out to a 2-0 lead in the top of the first when Iannacone gave up two singles after Eschen made an error on the first play of the game. Ray Pisano reached first on the shortstop's misplay and scored as two Klopchin brothers singled behind him to load the bases.

Two sacrifice flies to the outfield brought the mail home twice. After falling behind 11-2 before it got to bat again, the Power Co. scored twice in the third when the Avon infield made two errors before J. Klopchin and Conjura got base hits to produce the runs.

Avon Scoring
Avon had quite a first inning. Seven of the first ten batters got on first base safely, two being retired on sacrifice punts. John Frankoski and Wil Eschen were on base in the first frame when Keosky unloaded his first extra base hit in an Avon uniform—a triple scoring both runners. Stan Grodecki sacrificed after Joe Frankoski singled to register the second out but the third out was very elusive for the other side.

Two singles by Iannacone and Ronnie Babcock, plus an error at third base on Mike Belovich's grounder, set the stage for the

League Leaders Win On Helms 4-Hitter, 14-Hit Attack

Rocky's got back into its hitting groove Monday night as it tore apart the Brake Shoe 11-2 behind a 14-hit attack against Mike Hrusick. Stymied a week earlier by Tommy Dunnigan's no-hitter, Frank De Patta's crew made the most of its many scoring opportunities to run up its first run in a month.

Blitsey Rose was the big hitter as he picked up three safeties while John Scully, Floyd Helms, Mousie Finnelly, and Badger Chamberlain collected two apiece.

Helms limited the Mahwah outfit to four hits and only in the third inning when it scored all its runs did the Brake Shoe have the Houndog in much trouble. One of the four blows was a home run by Jordan in the third which accounted for both runs.

By the third inning, Rocky's had peeked away, at Hrusick for three runs and it wasn't until the following frame that the game was turned into a one-man show. Two walks and an error pushed across Chamberlain with the first run of the game in the first inning. In the second, when Rocky's went up 3-0, four hits and two walks dug the hole for Hrusick.

Al Gaeta opened the third inning with free pass but was cut down trying to go to third on Finnelly's hit. Paul Pantuso drew a walk and then the first three hitters in the lineup singled in succession to score two.

Brake Shoe team reached its peak in the third when Hrusick doubled with one away and came around on Jordan's circuit. Helms was the master of the situation, though, as he retired Sam De Simone to end the inning and didn't allow more than one runner to reach third down the distance.

With the aid of only two hits, Rocky's scored five runs in the top of the fourth and assumed an 8-3 lead. A walk, a hit batsman and an error loaded the bases before the big guns came rolling up. Scully ripped a double to right which scored two and then Rose cleared the bases with a home run.

After making three hits count for only a single tally in the sixth, Rocky's added two more in the seventh. Gaeta hit into a force play and came around as Finnelly and Helms stroked singles. Finnelly stayed alive on the bases and also scored to swell the total to 11 runs on 14 hits.

Tuxedo 50 Tuxedo Vamps Attend Outing Despite Weather

The weather intermittently halted the outdoor activities, but failed to dampen the spirits of the participants and spectators of approximately 50 members of the Tuxedo Fire Department who attended the annual outing of the department at LaBurt's Steak House in Goshen on Sunday.

During the dinner, the group was welcomed by Michael Crisci, master of ceremonies, following the opening invocation and remarks by the Rev. John J. Hannafin. Others called upon to speak included Philip Pucillo and Russell E. Cooley, who reminisced over his years of membership which dates back to 1903. Mr. Cooley commended the firemen for the service they render to the community and said the department had every right to be proud of the firemen.

Michael Coviello accepted the bowling trophy for the fire department team which was the winner of the annual tournament sponsored by the department. The benediction and closing remarks were made by the Rev. T. Arthur Gross.

Winners of the individual games included Carmine Forzono over his brother, Basil Forzono, in swimming; John Damato and Randall McCarrall at Bacc; Carmine Mottola Jr. and William Iannone in the three-legged race, and George McGregor in the sack race. A special three-legged race featured the following three teams: Father Hannafin and Philip Pucillo, the Rev. Gross and Mr. Cooley, and Louis Euvrard and Ray Husted, with the latter team being victorious. The softball game was called, due to darkness.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bailey of Cayuta, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey of Spencer, N. Y., returned home Saturday after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bailey in Tuxedo. Miss Linda Lucha of Tuxedo returned home with the Baileys to spend the remainder of the summer with Dorothy Jean Thorp in Troy, Pa.

Clarence Horton, custodian and bus driver of the Southfields public school, and son, Richard, spent last week on a vacation trip to Lake George, and the Adirondacks.

Louis Rittendale of Kennett Square, Pa., and Jack Rittendale of St. Louis, Mo., both former residents of Tuxedo, were recent callers in Tuxedo, while visiting relatives in Suffern.

Census Bureau Changes Dates For July Survey

A change in the timing of the Current Population Survey, carried out locally and in 229 other areas of the country each month by the Bureau of the Census, was announced today by Supervisor Jerome Litzky of the bureau's district office at New York.

Until this month the Current Population Survey was taken each month during the week which included the 15th of the month, with questions covering the week which included the 8th. Beginning this month, the Current Population Survey will cover employment and unemployment during the week containing the 12th of each month. The Current Population Survey will be conducted during the week beginning July 10.

Experts agree that statistics relating to the week of the 12th would be more typical for the month as a whole and would not be distorted by major holidays such as the Fourth of July and Labor Day.

who do think clearly and without the accumulated prejudices of thousands of years... especially those days when we enlightened women are beginning to realize the injustice we do in bringing up our sons or allowing our husbands to continue in the old mold.

It is really a credit to women's insight, that they have been able all these years, considering the fuzzy state of men's minds to see through them so clearly. There is the kind of logic that conducts impartial surveys prov-

Wins Safe Driving Trophy

Announcement has been made from the principal's office at Tuxedo High School that Robert McGrady, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McGrady of Eagle Valley, a student at Tuxedo High School, has been awarded the safe driving trophy for 1955 as the most efficient driver in the Tuxedo High School Driver Education Course. This trophy, which is an annual award, was won last year by Edward Young.

Walter Fisher, trustee in charge of Youth Recreation, has announced there will be supervised swimming on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., in Rogo's Pond, Sloatsburg. Supervision will be by Mrs. Walter Conklin, assisted by Charles Wilson Jr.

James McMañon Sr. was admitted to the Tuxedo Hospital last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Modder and their three children of Sharon, Pa., are guests this week at the home of Mr. Modder's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Modder of Tuxedo.

ing that women drivers have fewer accidents than men, speed less and give clearer hand signals, and yet who never cease their smug patronization or downright antagonism to women drivers. There is the insensitivity which brings a wife a wool sweater for her birthday (she's allergic to wool) when for weeks she's been hinting for a black negligee. (That's shortsighted too, because the negligee might be more rewarding... but that's not the point.)

And theirs, poor dears, is the gullibility which has led them to fall for that old canard that they alone are capable of carrying the burden of the world upon their shoulders (without ever reflecting upon who carries the burden of them). And theirs is the oversimplification which believes that all you have to do to understand life is to divide it up into small enough pieces to fit under a microscope and then study it intensely.

And yet, we women are as much to blame as they are. There was (and is) something so appealing to masculine vanity in the picture of Himself, bold as a lion, protecting a dainty and delicate little she-thing, who repays him with undying devotion and gratitude, that he goes to great trouble to keep up the illusion long beyond its actual necessity.

And even at a criminal cost to humanity... man as well as woman.

And women, deluded by the picture of themselves as pampered, cherished darlings, spared from life's realities, in truth work and slave, scrip and make do, not only without any recognition of their heroic efforts but so hedged in with restrictions and taboos that it's a wonder they survive the struggle.

And worst of all, in letting men do their thinking for them women have not only allowed men to believe that this is the correct state of affairs, but some poor misguided women even believe it themselves.

So we wind up with the Battle of the Sexes, a tragic manifestation which people assume to be a sort of God-given cross for us all to bear, and yet nothing could be further from the truth. Men and women belong together and not at sword's point.

Where women are willing to accept the responsibility as well as the privileges of a mature adult and where men are willing to accept women as individuals, not as stereotypes, and where both men and women are willing to think and grow according to their own personalities and needs rather than in the mold of stultifying tradition, then there will be no battle. Men and women will be truly complementary, their differences adding spice and zest to life and their accomplishments mentally, physically and emotionally satisfying.

Smartest car on the road—bar none! The Custom Royal Lancer by Dodge.

Not long ago, you had to figure on spending a lot of money if you wanted to step up to a big luxury car. Then along came this new Dodge—and things happened!

People who were used to paying a thousand dollars more found that Dodge offered all they could desire—at a sensible price. Owners of medium-priced cars discovered that for the same amount of money, or less, the new Dodge provided much more roominess, comfort, and more pride.

More, small-car owners found that several models of this big new Dodge even cost less than a tricked-up "lightweight."

Right off the bat, Dodge sales doubled! And we're taking advantage of skyrocketing sales to make you a "Drive It Home" deal you can't turn down. Come in today!

Dodge Dealers present: Danny Thomas in "Make Room for Daddy", Bert Parks in "Break The Bank", The Lawrence Walk Show—all on ABC-TV

SUFFERN BLUEPRINT AND REPRODUCTION SERVICE, INC.

In response to increased demand in this area and in anticipation of still greater demand in the future, The Suffern Blueprint and Reproduction Service Inc., 82 Orange Avenue, Suffern, was established early this year by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin W. Eschen and Leroy Lewis.

Mr. Lewis has experience of more than thirty years with reproductions and Mr. Eschen, long established in the area as a civil engineer, is thoroughly acquainted with the needs of the profession. Mrs. Eschen is a competent operator of apparatus for reproducing drawings.

Although the term "blueprint" is still in general use, modern equipment reproduces in black lines on paper of the desired color, usually white. Suffern Blueprint and Reproduction Service, however, is prepared to furnish prints on paper of many colors. In firms with several departments and elaborate filing systems, a number of prints of the same drawing may be required with the color of the paper indicating which department is to receive each copy.

Reproductions are also often made on cotton cloth or linen, especially for use in public offices where the prints will be subjected to much handling over a period of years. These prints are usually expected to remain in good condition as a permanent record.

Another service of the Suffern Blueprint and Reproduction Service which is doing a large volume of business is the photostat department. The firm is equipped to make photostatic copies up to 18 inches by 24 inches in size. Besides industries, many private individuals use this service to obtain accurate copies of important documents and records. The law does not permit photostatic reproduction of naturalization papers, marriage licenses or uncanceled checks, however.

There is a stock of engineers' and architects' supplies at the shop. This stock is reasonably complete and any supplies not on hand can be obtained in a short time. The Suffern Blueprint and Reproduction Service maintains a pickup and delivery service, an unusual feature calculated to save much time and expense to its patrons among the engineers, architects, builders and real estate men of the area. The firm carries insurance to cover all papers entrusted to its care.
